P R E F A C E.

IN submitting by auction property of any description, it is seldom necessary to prefix any Introduction or Address to the Catalogue: the public, and more particularly the amateur and collector, needing no guide of this kind to what is truly rare and valuable. But, in the present case, the extraordinary condition and value of this Library may make it not superfluous to offer a few words in regard to the formation of the most singular and rare specimens of Ancient and Modern Literature, Manuscripts, and Missals, which have been collected by one individual during the last thirty years, and which may vie with the most celebrated sales of our own time, from that of Mr. Paris in 1790, to that of the celebrated sale of Mr. Meerman, at the Hague, in 1824.

The Rev. Mr. Williams was indefatigable in purchasing every thing rare, valuable, or curious; sparing no exertions in selecting the finest copies, and, when possible, on large paper; and many articles will be found in this Catalogue unique in all classes.

To intelligent collectors and men of learning, it will only be necessary to mention a few of the precious gems contained in this collection: to point out the whole would be endless.

The Biblical part is particularly rich. The Hebrew Bible printed on vellum, at Naples, in 1482; the Aldine Greek Bible, on large paper; Cardinal Ximenes' Polyglott Bible, in six volumes; and, among the Manuscripts, the celebrated Hebrew Bible on vellum, in four volumes, taken from the

The whole of the Books will be found in the best style of Binding, in many instances with joints inside, or lined entirely with morocco, and richly tooled ; and, what is rarely done, on account of the trouble, sewed with silk upon bands, thus producing the finest specimens of the art of binding by the two celebrated modern binders, Mr. Charles Lewis, of Duke-street, St. James's, and Mr. John Clarke, of Meard-street, Dean-street, Soho, independently of those by the late Roger Payne, De Rome, and others.

Having mentioned some of the most important Books in this Library, it only remains to say that the whole will be sold without the least reserve. Ladies and gentlemen who may find it inconvenient to attend the Sale will have any Book or Lot purchased for them, or Commission executed, with fidelity,

By their most faithful and obliged servants,

STEWART, WHEATLEY, AND ADLARD.

* * * At the request of Mr. WILLIAMS, the following Note is inserted :—"The name of Lewis has long been before the public, and well deserves the unbounded patronage he has experienced. Clarke is not so generally known, though unquestionably the best binder of his day ; the finest specimens in this Collection are his handy work, and, as affording an opportunity of comparison with every other competitor, must attach to him that pre-eminence to which his unostentatious merit so justly entitles him."

224 BIBLIA HEBRAICA, CODEX VETUST. SUPRA MEMBRANIS.

to Phillips Purple morocco, gilt leaves, with morocco insides, joints, &c. 9l. 0 —

This MS. has never been collated. "It contains two verses, Joshua xxi. 36, 37, which are found in very few Hebrew MSS. and which were esteemed by Kennicott as the genuine readings of the Text, and most ancient copies." Dissertation 1, p. 324, 442, 11 p. 332, 371.

It is written on 349 leaves of vellum, in three columns, and in a bold character. Hebrew manuscripts of this description are of extreme rarity and value. The learned De Rossi has written several works on the Hebrew MSS. and the printed editions of the Bible, and the Catalogue of his Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex, under the editorial care of Mr. Pettigrew, (just published,) leaves nothing undescribed in this branch of Sacred Literature.

Blue morocco, gilt leaves, with morocco insides richly tooled. 25. 11. —

This beautiful MS. of the Bible is written in a clear and admirable character, on very delicate vellum, in double columns, with a gloss or notes surrounding the Text, in a very minute hand. It is apparently of the latter part of the fourteenth century. The Title of each Book is illuminated with gold.

EXARATA.

Pigskin Red morocco, with joints, by J. Clarke.

This beautiful Manuscript of the original Text of the Holy Scriptures is written on very delicate vellum, in a most exquisite style of Calligraphy. The text is arranged in three columns, and surrounded by a gloss in minute characters, which are occasionally made to assume the form of arabesque borders.

Thorp 227 BIBLIA LATINA, 4to.

Venetiis, per Georgium de Rivabenis, MCCCCLXXXVI. 29. 0 —

This beautiful book is printed with great neatness, in a small semi-gothic type, UPON THE MOST DELICATE WHITE VELLUM. The initials are illuminated, and the whole is in the most perfect state of preservation. Clarke has exerted his skill on the binding, which is in the Grolier style, and the volume would be no mean ornament to any library in the kingdom.

- Linger* 343 DICTYS CRETENSIS DE BELLO TROJANO.

MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written in the cursive Italic character of the XVth Century, and embellished with SIXTY-TWO EXQUISITE MINIATURE PAINTINGS in that style of art called Camaieu, heightened with gold. 71. 8—

In old blue morocco, with insides of red morocco, border of gold.

This Manuscript was formerly in the Gaignat Collection, and is mentioned by De Bure in his Bibliographie Instructive, No. 4719, as one of the most singularly precious and beautiful of its kind. It appears, from a manuscript account by Mr. Edwards, that he presented it to Count Macarthy, who was so delighted with the acquisition, that he, in return, gave him an exquisite little Book of Offices of the Virgin, which was sold at the auction of Mr. Edwards's library, (No. 828), for a very large sum, and is justly celebrated in Dibdin's Bibliographical Decameron.

COMPLUTI, Industria Ar. G. de Brocario, 1514-17
RED MOROCCO, GILT LEAVES, BY DE ROME.

This is certainly the finest copy that has ever been submitted for sale. Mr. Williams rejected several copies from his library in succession, each improving on the other, till he was fortunate enough to meet with this, which left nothing to be desired.

348 BIBLIA HEBRAICA. CODEX VETUSTA MEMBRANACEUS, 99-15
IN QUATUOR TOMOS DIVISA - (Circa) Sæc. XIII.

Purple morocco, with morocco insides, richly gilt leaves.

This extraordinary Hebrew Bible was deemed one of the finest Hebrew MSS. in the Vatican, and reckoned the finest in existence. JUNOT, WHEN GOVERNOR of Rome, laid his Vandal hands on it, and deprived that noble Library of one of its greatest treasures.

It would require several pages to describe properly the merits of this splendid MS. To the long MS. account inserted in the Book, the reader is referred. It is however necessary to state, that it is most beautifully written in double columns, with the Masoretical Commentary surrounding each page. It is undoubtedly a MS. of greater antiquity and more importance than the celebrated one in the Meer- man Library, now in the splendid Biblical Collection of his Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex.

349 —————. CODEX MEMBRANACEUS, SÆC. XV. (1448.) 56-114

This fine MS. is beautifully written on very delicate vellum. The text is arranged in two columns, surrounded with the masoretical commentary. The commencement of each Book is illuminated in gold and colours. It is one of the MS. taken from the Vatican by JUNOT, WHEN GOVERNOR OF ROME.

The binding by Clarke is red morocco, with Venetian morocco insides, most exquisitely tooled inside and out, in the perfection of his art.

CENTIBUS, IMPRESSUM SUPRA MEMBRANIS, ABSQUE LOCO ET ANNO, SED NEAPOLI, circa 1491 vel 1492.

Purple morocco, gilt leaves, joints, &c.

This is the identical copy described by the learned De Rossi as being in his Library. In his Catalogue, p. 10, after mentioning the Sencino edit. of 1488, and the Brescia one of 1494, he speaks of this as "Più rara delle due precedenti, V. il mio libro DE HEBRAICÆ TYPOGRAPHIÆ ORIGINE, p. 60-3, e gli ANNALI DEL XV. SEC." p. 139. "ESEMPLARE UNICO PERFETTO, dei tre superstiti e conosciuti in Europa, MEMBRANACEO, di sommissimo pregio e valore."—See farther account, page 38.

In a Biblical Collection, no book is of greater importance than the Scriptures in the Original Language. And it may be safely said, that this copy on VELLUM, is one of the rarest books in this country, or indeed in Europe. DeRossi asserts, that there are even more copies of the Soncino edition of 1488 in Italy alone, than there is of this Neapolitan impression in the whole world. The copy in Earl Spencer's library is on paper much shorter, and was also the property of Mr. Williams, who parted with it on his procuring the impression on vellum.

Magnificently bound in blue morocco, with morocco insides, and rich tooling, by John Clarke, and as a specimen of binding never was surpassed, perhaps never equalled.

This is in every respect one of the finest Books in the Collection. It is on Large and Thick Paper, and of the greatest rarity in this state;—vide Renouard, Annales des Alde, vol. 1, p. 192-3.

1. 355 BIBLIA LATINA. CODEX VETUSTA SUPRA MEMBRANIS. CIRCA SÆC. IX. 187.

This grand and most valuable MS. of the Bible belonged to the Cathedral of Rochester, in the time of Bishop Gundulph, who was consecrated to that See by Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury, in 1077. On the first leaf those persons are threatened with excommunication by the Bishop, Prior, and Chapter, who either carried away the Book or destroyed or tore out the leaf containing the following excommunication:

"Per bone Memorie Gundulfum Roffen Epm. Liber de Claustro Roffens quem qui inde alienavit, alienatu celavit vl hunc titulu in fraudem delevit: Excoicatus est: Ferentib: Senteciam Do. Sco. Epo. Priore & Singlis Psbiteris Capli Roffens."

The same denunciation occurs on the first leaf of the 2d. vol.

The writing is certainly earlier than the 11th century, the character being that used in the 9th and 10th. See "Mabillon de Re Diplomatica, p. 368, and tab. xxxi. p. 362-63, and Traité Diplomatique, vol. 3, p. 475, 478, 485, &c." It is also exactly similar in the style of writing, the initial letters, &c. to the Colbert MS. intituled "Codicem de Mortibus Persecutorum," written in the year 879. Consult also "Miscellanea Baluzii, tom. 2, p. 347, and Lucii Cæcilii Lib. de Mortibus Persecutorum, editum a Nic. de Nourry. Congregat. S. Mauri, Paris, 1710," where a Specimen of the Colbert manuscript is given. From this testimony there can be little doubt of this Bible being as early as the 9th century. If it had not been reckoned of extraordinary value, and even rarity, in the time of Gundulph, it would not have been considered necessary to place it under such strict interdict, as to threaten with excommunication those who carried it off.

AN IMPORTANT FACT OCCURS IN THIS MS. The disputed passage in St. John's Epistles is not in the text, but has been inserted at a later period, in the margin, by another hand.

It is splendidly bound in 2 large vols. in blue morocco, with insides richly tooled.

This is one of the finest and most valuable Greek MSS. in the collection, it is most beautifully written on strong vellum, and has been evidently copied from an earlier MS. probably of the tenth century, (the date it bears on the binding.)
It is most richly bound in blue morocco, with insides elegantly tooled after a pattern of Maioli's.

The MSS. of the Gospels of this early age (thirteenth century) are of extreme rarity. This commences with the Preface of St. Jerome, which is followed by a Calendar; after which, the Gospel of St. Matthew begins; and it ends with the Gospel of St. John. It would require more space than can be afforded to describe it at greater length. It should be placed in a Public Library, in order to allow of its close examination and collation. [The size is small 4to.]
 BOUND IN GREEN MOROCCO, WITH INSIDES RICHLY TOOLED.

Green morocco, gilt leaves, with joints, &c. (bound from an uncut set.)

Best edition, and exactly conformable to the description in Brunet. It is not possible to possess a finer copy of this interesting work. The impressions of the numerous engravings are most choice.

11. 00 488 CHRONICARUM LIBER. per Hartman Schedel. FIRST EDITION, with above 2200 wood-cuts, by Pleydenwurf and Wolgemuth (the master of Albert Durer.)

Nurembergæ. Ant. Koberger, MCCCCLXXXIII.

A superb copy in green morocco, rich border of gold.

The copies of this curious book (so fully described by Dr. Dibdin, in the Spencer Catalogue, vol. 3, 255, 280,) are generally mutilated or badly wormed: this is remarkably pure and fine.

04. 00 489 CICERONIS (M. T.) OPERA OMNIA, CUM DELECTU COMMENTARIORUM, STUDIO JOS. OLIVETI, 9 vol. CHART. MAX. (RARISSIMA) Paris, 1740

Blue morocco, gilt leaves, with insides richly tooled.

It is needless to expatiate on the rarity of the copies on large paper of this celebrated edition, of which only 25 were taken off. A reference to Brunet, Manuel du Libraire, will point out its worth. This copy was purchased some years since for 4000 francs, a price which is not beyond its true value, and the splendid and appropriate binding was then added.

The Biblical Scholar well knows the importance and rarity of Greek manuscripts of the Scriptures of this early age.

inger 749 EVANGELIA IV. LATINE. CODEX MEMBRANACEUS, SÆCULI
XI. 172. on

This precious Manuscript was presented by that renowned benefactress of the Church, the Countess Matilda of Tuscany, to the celebrated Monastery of St. Benedict de Padolirone, near Modena, as appears by the original inscription preserved in the inside of the cover: "Liber iii^{or} evangelistarū quem donavit Comitissa Matilda abbī et monachis scī. bādeti de padoliron." On the reverse of a spare leaf, the contents are registered at the commencement of the volume; and at the end we have a list of the benefactors of the monastery, "de quorum elemosinis locus iste constructus est," caused to be written by the Abbot Wilhielmus, who died before the year 1100; at the end of which is inscribed, "Iste liber est monasterij sancti benedicti de padolirōe mantuane diocesis." It is shewn by the learned Recanati, in a MS. note on the margin, that this Manuscript must have been written previous to 1097. After the list of benefactors, follows a very curious list of those persons in the diocese of Mantua who did fealty to the abbey. "Q. de mantua fecerūt. fidelitatē huic eccle. hii sunt." Then follows a memorial of the benefactions of the Countess Matilda, with the solemn act of the Chapter for the celebration of the anniversary of her donation, signed by the Abbot Alberic and all the Chapter, on the 8th of the Ides of April, 1109.

But one of the most distinguishing features of this very valuable Codex is the SPIRITED DESIGNS at the beginning and end of the text of the Scriptures, which are HIGHLY INTERESTING SPECIMENS OF EARLY ART. The subjects treated are—Joseph's Dream; the Wise Men's Offering; the Flight into Egypt, and various passages in the life of Christ.

Montfaucon, in his "Diarum Italicum," p. 35, mentions the treasures of the library of this monastery: "Mutina in S. Benedicti Padolironensis venimus: totius Italiæ amplissimum, quod latifundia possidet quanta vix aliud. Padolironense autem dicitur, quia inter Padum et Lironem situm est.—Bibliotheca Codicibus Latinis tantum Manuscriptis bene multis exornatur." He has given a list of a few which came under his notice, but this highly interesting volume has escaped him. It is a gem which would become no mean ornament to any biblical collection.

THE RICHLY EMBELLISHED BINDING IN OLIVE-GREEN MOROCCO, WITH MOROCCO INSIDES, IS BY C. LEWIS.

- 1029 MISSALE ROMANUM, SEU OFFICIUM B. MARIE VIRGINIS, 304. 10m
MS. SUP. MEMBRANIS, SEC. XV. - (8½ by 6½ inches.)

This splendidly embellished Missal is enriched with THIRTY-EIGHT EXQUISITE MINIATURE PAINTINGS, in the best style of art of the early part of the 15th century. There are also FIFTY-TWO PAGES RICHLY EMBELLISHED WITH BORDERS, painted with consummate skill, in various designs of Arabesque, Grotesque, Flowers, Fruit, Gems, &c. displaying infinite fancy, and the most elaborate skill in the Illuminator. The Calendar is enriched with subjects from familiar life, displaying the principal Rural and Domestic Occupations of the Seasons of the Year, and is highly interesting for the illustrations it affords of Manners and Costume. It is written on the most exquisitely chosen delicate Italian Vellum, and it may safely be pronounced to be one of the most beautiful Missals ever submitted to public sale in this country.

In the original black turkey binding, with silver gilt clasps.

- 1030 MISSALE ROMANUM SEU OFFICIUM B. MARIE VIRGINIS, MS. SUPRA MEMBRANIS, SEC. XV. (1488),

Hurd

(9 $\frac{1}{2}$ by 7 inches).

This most splendid Book of Offices is known as the celebrated Missal belonging to the Baron Denon, late President of the French Institute, who possessed greater advantages than any other person of securing articles of Vertù of the choicest description, from the unlimited confidence placed in him by Bonaparte, in selecting and securing works of art for the National Museum.

It consists of one hundred and fifty leaves of fine and pure vellum, enriched with miniatures of the highest finish in an exquisite style of art. It contains TWELVE Large Paintings, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ by 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches; and FORTY-EIGHT of a smaller size, (in the whole SIXTY,) having borders of Flowers, Birds, Insects, Papal Coins, Jewels, Amusements, Roses, and a variety of other subjects: finished in the most delicate, and at the same time the most splendid manner, in the richest colours heightened with gold. It would exceed the limits of a Catalogue to describe the contents, as it ought to be done, more at length. It is undoubtedly one of the most sumptuous Missals ever offered to the public, and was considered by the Baron as one of the gems in his collection. It was purchased from him by the late Robert Heathcote, esq. a gentleman well known for his distinguished taste. The binding may be called a matchless specimen of the art, by Charles Lewis; it is of green morocco, tooled entirely over after a pattern of a book belonging to Diana of Poitiers. The inside tooling is a specimen of admirable taste, and the Clasps are of massy gold, richly chased. It is enclosed in a box case, with a spring lock, covered with Venetian Morocco.

Green morocco, with insides most richly tooled in the Grolier style, by J. Clarke.

This volume is enriched with numerous spirited wood-cuts, fine specimens of that art of engraving, and not to be excelled at the present time. The beauty of the press-work, and the care with which the vellum has been selected, render it one of the most exquisite specimens of the skill of the celebrated printer, Gabriel Giolito, in the world. Two leaves are so wonderfully restored by Harris, as to defy the examination of the closest observer.

Purple morocco, gilt leaves, morocco insides, joints, &c.

It is impossible in the limits of a Sale Catalogue to enter largely into the merits of every Manuscript. The learned De Rossi has stated that the MSS. of the Pentateuch are even rarer than those of the Bible. We can safely assert that no Collection that has been of late years brought before the public, has contained so many valuable MSS. and printed editions of the Scriptures in the original as the present.

This excessively rare Pentateuch is described by De Rossi. —There is a copy in the Royal Library at Paris referred to by Brunet.

ONE OF THE RAREST AND MOST VALUABLE OF THE ENGLISH EDITIONS OF THE CLASSICS, ON LARGE PAPER. THIS COPY IS ENRICHED WITH A FEW MARGINAL ADDITIONS, WRITTEN IN A VERY BEAUTIFUL HAND. THERE IS SOME VARIATION BETWEEN THIS AND THE COPY IN THE TWELFTH DAY'S SALE, NO. 1550, (ALSO ON LARGE PAPER.) IT IS THEREFORE NECESSARY TO APPRISE THE PURCHASER THAT IT WOULD BE VERY DESIRABLE TO HAVE BOTH THE COPIES.

Sine Anno aut Loco, (sed circa 1476)

This curious edition of the New Testament in Latin is printed in double columns, in a small Gothic letter, such as is used by the early Venetian printers. At the end of the Testament is subjoined, Haymonis de Christianarum Rerum Memoria. The volume is beautifully bound in morocco, by Clarke.

IMPRESSUM SUPRA MEMBRANIS. Paper copies of this Æthiopic Testament are sufficiently rare; but it would be difficult to find a more beautiful or desirable book than the present; the beauty of the VELLUM, and the matchless skill which the printer has displayed, cannot well be exceeded. IT IS ONE OF THE RAREST BOOKS IN EXISTENCE.

A MAGNIFICENT MANUSCRIPT, beautifully written in roman characters on the choicest Italian vellum. The first page of the Georgics, Bucolics, and Æneid, are written in letters of gold, and richly decorated with an Arabesque border, and large miniature painting; there is also a miniature and border to each book of the Æneid. Nothing can exceed the beauty of execution displayed by the scribe in this exquisite book, and though the miniatures are more suited to the romantic than the classic page, they are curious monuments of art. At the end is the following inscription: EGO JACOBUS GUIDONIS DE VERONA FINITI HUNC LIBR DIE XXIII. NOVEMBRIS, 1459.

The volume is in the original richly decorated binding, with the arms of the Cardinal for whom it was executed on the sides.

* * THIS IS THE MOST EXTENSIVE WORK WHICH HAS EVER ISSUED FROM THE PRESS PRINTED UPON VELLUM. "Thomas Aquinas was a truly great genius," says Warburton, "who in those blind ages was the same in theology that our Friar Bacon was in natural philosophy, he pierced through the thickest night of monkery, when the Waldenses were suppressed, and Wickliffe not yet risen; his works should always form an appendage to a classical library, on account of his profound, lucid, and extensive commentaries, on the physics, metaphysics, and ethics, of Aristotle, which form the first five volumes; a critic of exquisite taste (Dr. Warton,) has pronounced his view of Aristotle's Ethics to be admirable, and well deserving a most attentive perusal.

The collectors of books printed upon vellum have now an opportunity of gratifying their taste, as it is the only copy printed upon vellum that is ever likely to occur for sale. It is the identical one presented by Pope Pius V. to the King of Spain, and deposited in the Library of the Escorial, from whence it appears to have been taken during the occupation of Spain by Bonaparte. The other copy is in the Royal Library at Paris. It is probable that only these two copies were struck off on vellum, and that the one we now offer was taken from the Library of the Vatican, and presented to the King of Spain, (Philip II.)
who was an ardent admirer of Aquinas.

OXONII, E THEATRO SHELDONIANO, 1691-1705
This is unquestionably the rarest Classic that has ever issued from the Oxford Press, and this copy may be justly termed unique, both in regard to its beauty, and that it contains more than any other is known to possess,—viz. a duplicate volume, containing the Memorabilia Socratis of 1705, in which will be found a considerable variation in the title and the text. No less than three copies have contributed to form this most extraordinary set, viz. the copy of Lord Viscount Hampden sold in 1824, (5 vols. one of which inlaid,) for 158l. 11s.; that of Count Macarthy (also imperfect,) brought at his sale 1520 francs, (63l. 6s. 8d.); and the late Sir Mark Sykes's, that most excellent man and spirited collector, after every exertion, could never procure the first volume on Large Paper. Brunet asserts that no absolutely perfect set is known in France.

The binding, by John Clarke, is the most perfect specimen of his art, and has probably never been equalled. It is red morocco, full lettered, and perfectly plain outside, but the insides are most delicately and highly finished in lines to a pattern furnished by Mr. Williams.

It has been thought proper to add a full description of the contents of each volume.

It is on India paper, in the very first state of the plate; signed by Raphael Morghen himself, who asserted that only two impressions were taken off before he added to the plate.~~

~~The celebrity of this identical impression, and its extreme rarity and value, are so well known, as to render it needless to enlarge further.~~

Jones 1947 A CONVERSATION, BY HOGARTH, HIGHLY INTERESTING AND MOST SPIRITED IN THE EXECUTION, PAINTED IN HIS BEST STYLE AND TIME. 15 1/2-16 1/2

This fine picture, by the admirable Hogarth, represents himself, and two of his friends,—the well-known Dr. Monsey, and Old Slaughter, the original proprietor of the Coffee-House in St. Martin's Lane, (which still bears his name, and where the Meetings of the Artists was held, before the formation of the Royal Academy.) They are in deep conversation over a Bowl of Punch, and are full of life. It is undoubtedly one of the finest specimens of this great English Master.
